Thank you, Hawai'i Business Magazine, for this incredible honor.

I'm deeply humbled to be recognized among the top real estate professionals in the state. This recognition reflects the trust my clients place in me, the strength and support of the Hawai'i Life network, and the continued evolution of Honolulu's luxury market—a market that consistently sets new benchmarks, even in the face of global uncertainty.

As we reflect on 2024, O'ahu's luxury real estate market remains exceptionally strong. Limited inventory of high-quality single-family homes and luxury condominiums continues to drive demand. For discerning buyers, off-market opportunities and thoughtfully executed new builds or renovations have become essential pathways to success.

Our results are grounded in a strategic, technology-forward approach, paired with deep local insight and relationships built over years of dedicated service. I'm honored to have been ranked the #3 agent in the state by individual sales volume, and to have represented clients in the two highest-priced residential sales in O'ahu's history—a testament to what's possible with vision, trust, and teamwork.

It's a true privilege to serve in this remarkable market. I remain committed to helping clients navigate their real estate journeys with care, expertise, and integrity.
