Her depth of market knowledge and ability to consistently deliver exceptional results has resulted in an impressive network of clients that now include multi-generations. Dolores has closed more than 500 transactions with first-time home buyers, multi-generations of families, investors, and ultra-high-net worth individuals. From the Hawaiian Islands to New York, from China to Korea and across Europe, investors have sought out Dolores to market and manage the sale of their luxury properties. Her dedication and commitment to her clients is paramount.

Dolores comes from generations of real estate. Her family was involved with subdivision and commercial developments and held investments in Asia, Silicon Valley, Las Vegas and Newport Beach. Her immersion in the industry from a young age provided her with a deep and diverse understanding of the market, both from an investor and developer point of view. Dolores continues this legacy with her two children - Michael, who works in commercial development in Virginia, and her daughter and business partner Amanda who works closely with Dolores on all of her transactions in Hawaii.

In addition to her unparalleled real estate success, Dolores is deeply involved with the community. She is an active member of the Pacific Club, Waialae Country Club where she recently started playing golf at a later age, the Rotary Club, and philanthropic organizations such as Child and Family Service, Aloha Medical Mission, Hawaiian Humane Society... Dolores' dedication extends beyond real estate, enriching lives and supporting causes across Oahu and beyond.
